“Diversity and difference will not be seen as a problem but as richness, available to all.”

João Costa

MESSAGE

JOÃO COSTA - Secretary of State for Education

The future inclusive society will not need to be remembered of it. Diversity and difference will not be seen as a problem but as richness, available to all.

In order to build such a society we need to open minds, so that the needs of some are the strength of all. The Inclusive Games give us the unique opportunity to send the message – “anyone can play, everybody wins”, everybody can run, play, compete and to live together.

Inclusion is possible and these games are the proof of it.

“Therefore, School Sport is the perfect means, not only to encourage the students’ success but also in moulding intrinsic citizens.”

Maria Manuela P. Faria

Maria Manuela Pastor Faria – Director General of Schools Establishments

Welcome to the first World Championship of Adapted School Sport – ISF Inclusive Games!

An Inclusive School values each and every student, regardless of their personal and social condition, and their capabilities. Therefore, School Sport is the perfect means, not only to encourage the students’ success but also in moulding intrinsic citizens.

This is a memorable event for a variety of reasons - the diversity of its participants, an occasion to share life experiences and, most specially, because it represents genuine inclusion.

For this reason Portugal is proud of welcoming the 2019 Inclusive Games!

“Live the sport, enjoy life.”

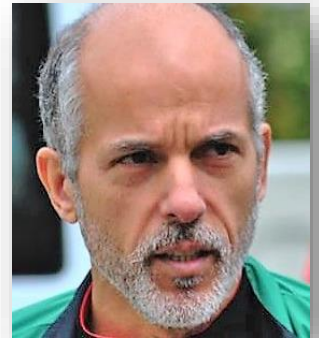

António Amador

MESSAGE

On behalf of the Portuguese Orienteering Federation, I want to leave votes of success for the ISF Inclusive Games in Póvoa do Varzim. The sports practice is a transversal right to the whole society, it is particularly important to take this practice to groups where there is a lower offer like in case of students with Special Educational Needs.

It is a proud to have Portugal embraced the organization of this first edition of ISF Inclusive Games, I would like to express my hope that this will be the first of many editions and to be strengthening in the future at the level of participating countries and more modalities practiced. Finally, I hope that Orienteering can be one of the modalities to be included in the near future.

Live the sport, enjoy life.

Member of ANDDVIS

As member of ANDDVIS (National Sport Association for Blind), I congratulate all involved in the organization of this forthcoming event. It is an excellent opportunity to publicize sport view and values as an instrument to educate, include and provide health.

I want to share with you that ANNDVIS ‘s project “Blind Football – The Game is Coming” was awarded the prize “Futebol para Todos” (Football for All) by the Portuguese Federation of Football.

The purposes of the project, which is due to start in November , are the production of a formative session for future technicians, that will be of great help in “Football for Blind People” matches, raise awareness to this matter in the schools and arrange friendly games between senior football players and the new rising stars. We need and want the institutions, such as DGE and School Sport National Coordination, to support this project and hopefully, in the near future, Football for Blind will also be included in School Sport national Plan.

Let’s celebrate the first edition of the ISF Inclusive Games in Portugal!

INTERVIEW – Heitor Vale

IG News interviewed Mr. Vale in order to know his opinion on the first ISF Inclusive Games. Being a blind himself, even though he wasn't born one, he stated that this condition didn't prevent him of leading a normal life. Of course that, adapting to blindness isn't easy, but with the support of his family, it was a progressive and easy task.

He graduated in History at the Universidade do Porto and became part of the DGEST personnel, specifically, in the Inclusion department, which produced textbooks to be sent to schools for the blind students.

In his opinion first ISF Inclusive Games show that it is possible for everybody, impaired or not, to lead a normal and autonomous, joyful life.
